

Brief CV of Mahmoud Debabeche

Mahmoud Debabeche is full Professor in Hydraulics in the University of Biskra (Algeria) since 2008. Director of the research laboratory in Civil and Hydraulic Engineering, Sustainable Development and Environment (LARGHYDE) since 2011. After he has been engineer in Hydraulics in 1992, and has obtained a Magister in Hydraulics in 1996, he graduated from the Department of Hydraulics, University of Biskra (Algeria) with a 'State Doctorate' in Hydraulics sciences in 2003. He has been responsible in charge of Pedagogy at Biskra University in 2000. President of the scientific committee of the department of hydraulics in 2009. He is responsible in charge of research valuation and cooperation at the University of Biskra, since 2010. European Union projects coordinator since 2014. Since 2015 he is member of the National Council of Ethics and Deontology in the Universities. In 2017 he was nominated President of the Ethics and Deontology Council of the University of Biskra. He has been the Algerian coordinator of many European Union projects such as : "Water pollution in 2011" and "ICMED in 2017" between the University of Biskra (Algeria) and the University of Padova (Italy). His domains of research are: open channel flows and constructed wetlands. He has co-authored more than fifteen papers and has supervised more than forty students (Engineer, Master, Magister and PhD).